TENNILLE'S OLD-TIME CLOTHING SALES!

The Truth and Nothing But the Truth!

On account of the unseasonable weather and the lack of business, Tennille is compelled to make sweeping reductions on his entire stock of clothing and furnishings. The wonderful money-saving opportunities that will be offered during this sale are beyond description. The peerless values shown here will prove that our words are correct. Tennille's sales are always legitimate. He scorns to defraud the public by impromptu fake sales. His methods are always above board, and his trade is daily gaining by legitimate business dealings. Remember when purchasers are dissatisfied, money always returned.

HANGED WITH A STRAP. A Baltimore Man Commits Suleide at

BALTIMORE, Oct. 30,-Charles L. Spies, aged seventeen years, son of Edgar F. M. Spies, 654 West Saratoga Street, committed suicide last night by hanging himself in his bedroom in the third-story back rocm of his father's home. Coroner Grempler decided an inquest tinnecessary. He said that death resulted from strangulation. The father of the young man stated last night that so far as he knew his son had no reason to wish to die. Young Spies was employed in the office of the stove factory of S. B. Sexton & Sons. His father said he worked faithfully.

Edgar A. Spies, a younger brother of the unfortunate young man, found the body. The two brothers slept in different beds in the same room. Edgar went to the room to prepare for bed, when he found his brother's body hanging from the door of the room with a trunk strap fastened around his neck. The lad screamed and other members of the family were goon in the room. The body was cut down by of his father's home. Coroner Grempler other members of the family were soon in the room. The body was cut down by young Spies' father.

On the back of the door from which he was found hanging are five clothes hooks. Young Spies had fastened the strap through each of the hooks, and then thrown it over the back of the door. He had taken out a drawer from the bureau, upon which he stood, and when the strap began to tighten around his neck he kicked began to tighten around his neck he kicked

Two Deer at One Shot.

(Correspondence of the Boston Herald.)

The most remarkable shooting story told by the Dead River guides is that about E. G. Ward. He was here early this week. The first day out he secured a small doe. Several days passed without success on his part, but the day before he started for home he saw a doe break through the underbrush and run. He watched a clearing a short distance further on, and when the doe leaped into that he fired. The doe dropped dead, and when he went to secure her he found that the bullet had passed completely through her and had struck a fawn by her side, which he had not seen. The fawn was badig injured, and, the guides say, Mr. Ward was obliged to kill it. He then found himself with three deer can his hands, one more than the law allows.

The members of the Philippine Commis ion, which met at the Arlington Hotel today, are considering the advisability of nining as witnesses reputable persons who are familiar with conditions in the Philippines, and who have suggestions for the formation of a just and good government for the islands. The matter, it is said, has been under consideration for the past few days, but nothing definite has been decided. One member of the Commission, when seen by a Times reporter oday, stated that he favored the idea, as Philippines, and who have suggestions to make, would be heard."

The Commissioners stated that it is probable that should the proposition be received favorably very few such witnesses would be heard, as the Commission thinks that there should be as little delay as possible in getting down to work.

The Commissioners have not yet even informally considered a form of government for the islands, and it is said the opinions of the members vary widely upon some phases of the general question. The proposal to hear witnesses is one of the results of this indecision. Senor Regidor, the alleged representative of Aguinaldo is now in London, on his way to this country to make an attempt to arrange a settlement between the American Government and the Philippine insurgents. He will ment between the American Government and the Philippine insurgents. He will probably be heard, as an individual only, however, by the Commission, providing he gives the Commissioners assurances beforehand that he has a reasonable proposition to make. Regidor can appear before the Commission without in any way binding this Government to recognize him as a diplomatic representative of either the Philippine insurgents or the so-called Filiping Government. Such recognition will pino Government. Such recognition will not be granted him. The disposition of the proposition as to whether he take the witness stand before the Commission depends altogether upon the will of the Commissioners, and the State Department will have nothing to say in regard to the matter. Regidor, coming as he does directly from the seat of the trouble and in all probability armed with suggestions, the fruit of long and careful suggestions, the fruit of long and careful study of conditions now confronting the Islanders and the Americans, would make an excellent witness. It is thought while he may be prejudiced in favor of his own people and look at some of the questions purely from the eyes of a Filipino, he will nevertheless give valuable information and suggestions which the Commissioners may follow.

There are numerous persons in this city and the country generally who are ac-quainted with general conditions in the Islands, and whose testimony and sugges-tions would, it is thought, be valuable. No business was transacted at the meeting
